MUC. INTEREST CENTRIS IN SATURDAY'S CONTESTS

Much interest is being manifested in the Mine Rescue and First Aid contests to be held in Blairmore of Saturday of this week. For several weeks past, preparations have been going on and by now everything is practically in readiness for the big event.

Included in the arrangements necessary for the conduct of such contests is the erection of tunnels, etc. resembling as near as possible the portion of a mine in which it is sometimes necessary in time of accident to avail of mine rescue and first aid knowledge. Such preparations entail a large expense and it is hoped that the local committees will have no difficulty in securing the funds.

The contests will take place near the arena, starting promptly at 8.30 a.m. Up to the time of going to press the following teams have entered.

Mine Rescue Contest—Cammore, Bellevue, Hillcrest, Greenhill (Blairmore), McGillivray and International. First Aid Contest—Cammore, Hillcrest, Bellevue, Greenhill (Blairmore), Blairmore, Mutt Mine, International, McGillivray and Coleman Town.

If the weather is unfavorable, the arena will be placed at the disposal of the contest committees, which the committees very much appreciate. In the arena the First Aid work will be conducted; Mine Rescue teams will take down and re-assemble their apparatus and the inspection will be made prior to going to the smoke room. If weather is favorable, all work will be done outside on the grounds.

The following schedule will be followed as nearly as possible.

The drawing for time and place will take place on the grounds. After the drawing, the teams will go to the library, close to the grounds, and remain there until their time of competing. Rev. Smith has very kindly offered the use of the library rooms for this purpose, which is also very much appreciated by the committee.

Good prizes are being given to the winners, including the beautiful large cup provided by the McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Company, Limited, for the team gaining first place in the First Aid contest, to be held by them for one year, or until the next contest is held in the district, when it will be again competed for. The Charbonnier cup will be awarded to winners of Mine Rescue competition.

The following persons will be acting as judges—Mine Rescue Contest: Robert Livingstone and J. B. DeHart, Lethbridge; John A. McDonald, Fernie, B.C., and Michael McLean, Michel, B.C. First Aid Contest: Dr. Greff, Edmonton; Dr. Walkey, Pincher Creek; Robert Fauds, Taber, and Wm. J. Hill, Edmonton.

A demonstration of mine rescue equipment will take place around 3 p.m. on Saturday.

At 5.30, a football game will be played on the athletic grounds between Bellevue and Hillcrest teams, the proceeds of which will be handed to Mr. John Milnes of Bellevue, who until recently was one of the leaders in First Aid work, but is now unable to follow any employment through sickness. The game is deserving of your support and the teams are to be commended on their thoroughness in staging this benefit game.

At 5 p.m., a smoker will be held in the Greenhill Grill, when the prizes will be awarded the contest winners. Admission to the smoker by invitation card only.

DEATH OF A. A. BAKER

Word was received a few days ago by Mrs. Gordon Steeves, apprising her of the rather sudden death of her father, Mr. Alexander A. Baker, of Calgary, which occurred at Los Angeles.

Mr. Baker was sixty-eight years of age and had been a resident of Calgary for about seventeen years. Latterly he had been in ill health and after visiting here with his daughter and son-in-law, and with his daughter at Oliver, B.C., he went to California, where he died.

Deceased was the first employee of the Imperial Drygoods Company in Calgary, having been connected with the firm for more than seventeen years, up until this spring, when the condition of his health forced him to retire. He was a widower, Mrs. Baker having predeceased him by twelve years.

He was born in Morrisburg, Ontario, but spent a long time in Collingwood, the same province, prior to his coming to the west.

Surviving him are two sons, Muir, of Toronto, and Carl, of Regina, and three daughters, Mrs. Gordon Steeves, of Blairmore, Alberta; Mrs. Douglas Robinson, of Oliver, B.C., and Mrs. Donald MacKay, of Los Angeles.

The remains were brought to Calgary, where interment takes place today.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Steeves, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, left here by motor on Tuesday morning for Calgary to attend the funeral.

We can't abolish the stock exchange. There must be some recreation for those not crooked enough to shoot traps.

Important changes in C.P.R. passenger train schedules will come into effect on September 29th.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

New Zealand will appoint a trade representative in Canada, it has been announced. Growing commerce between the two countries is given as the reason.

The monoplane Bremen, first to cross the North Atlantic from east to west, is to be placed on permanent exhibition at the Museum of Peaceful Arts, in New York.

A young peach tree bearing a fruit, half of which was a peach, and the other half a nectarine, was exhibited at the recent show of the Royal Horticultural Society, in London, England.

Exports of Canadian wheat during the month of August totalled 10,155,286 bushels with a valuation of $14,397,490, according to returns compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The R-100, British dirigible now under construction at Cardington, England, which was expected to make a trans-Atlantic flight to Montreal this fall, will not do so until next May, according to officials of the Department of National Defence.

Hon. Dr. Robert George Brett, pioneer medical practitioner in Alberta and one of the most outstanding public men in the province, died recently in Calgary, at the age of 78, after an illness extending over several weeks.

Lord Ypres, son of the late Field Marshal, plans to leave for the United States shortly to exhibit his paintings. Lord Ypres paints his pictures in a studio built in the garden of his home, Ivy House, built during the reign of William III.

Premier Mackenzie King proposes to make a trip, probably to the Pacific Coast, starting about the end of October. It will be a somewhat hurried trip, the prime minister said, but he will make a number of speeches, some of them, in all probability, on the way out to the west.

French Bakers Celebrate

Commemorated Four Hundredth Birthday Of the Doughnut

This generation has an evident fondness for anniversaries. People like them, and seek causes for holding them. Therefore, no person can object when French bakers decide to commemorate the 400th birthday of the doughnut.

The first example of the famous confection was made in Paris in 1520. Some time later it got passage over the Channel into England, and from there made its way with household effects and other ideas to this continent.

The first doughnut, we read in the Christian Science Monitor, was shaped like a crescent. This is, of course, interesting, but is of comparatively little importance. The real thrill will come with the names of the genius who first took a hoe and molded the doughnut round the vacant space.

Promoting Trade Welfare

Six Apprentice Grocers From Great Britain Now Touring Canada.

So that they may know better the Canadian goods they will have over the counters in their shops in England, and to promote the welfare of trade between the mother country and the Dominion, six apprentice grocers from Great Britain are now touring Canada, under the auspices of the Department of Trade and Commerce, with the co-operation of the Canadian National Railways. They were selected for the tour by an essay competition conducted by the British Institute of Certified Grocers for the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Cue To Unsolved Mystery

McMillan Expedition Finds Traces Of Frobenius Party, Lost In 1576

A clue to an unsolved mystery of nearly 400 years' standing—the fate of five men left on Kadunaru Island by Sir Martin Frobenius in 1576—is reported by Donald R. MacMillan, on his return here from over two months' exploration voyage to Baffin Land.

On an island on Countess Warwick Sound, the famous explorer discovered an ancient stone house which the Eskimos said was the work of white men. Inside were the bones of a bear and other evidence that it had been used as a shelter. The age of the house and other particulars pointed to the dwelling being contemporary with Frobenius.

Kadunaru was also visited and there the party found, in a very fair state of preservation, the house built by Frobenius in Queen Elizabeth's day. Digging in the earth floor, they discovered some pottery and other relics belonging to that period; also traces of the ship-ways down which the intrepid explorers launched the boats they built after their ships were crushed by ice. It was hitherto supposed that the five men left behind by Frobenius on one of his three voyages made attempts to build a fort to protect the supposed gold mines and had been killed by Eskimos. Careful enquiry among the natives reveals a tradition that the white men were not slain, but built a big boat and set out on their perilous return to England.

The relics now found by MacMillan indicate that they had proceeded only about fifty miles when their frail craft was crushed by icebergs, and one or more escaped ashore and built the shelter in Countess Warwick Sound.

Three Year Old Makes Long Journey

Little Boy Travels Alone From Liverpool To The Pas, Man.

Albert Pilkington, aged three years, stepped off the Continental Limited in Winnipeg recently, clutching in one hand a ticket that was taller than Albert by many inches, and in the other "Bosco," a mechanical doll, who had accompanied him all the way from Liverpool. Albert, or Bert, as he insists on being called, was en route to The Pas, where his father sent him to be looked after by an aunt upon the death of his mother. He sailed on the SS. Regina, in charge of the captain of that ship, and at Montreal was turned over to the care of George Cosgrain, Canadian National Railways conductor, who looked after him on the journey from Montreal to Winnipeg.

When the Continental Limited reached Winnipeg, Albert gravely climbed down from the train, shook hands with his friend the conductor, smiled for the photographers, and announced that he wanted an automobile ride. Bert was promptly accommodated, and when he boarded the train for The Pas, on the last leg of his journey, he gave his opinion that "Bosco" were very nice and automobiles were even nicer, but what Bert liked best of all was "riding on a train." This winter when Albert is in the North he will have the thrill of riding on a dog sled, but until that time his railways have a certain small and enthusiastic booster.

Survey Of Dairy Industry

Data On Dairy Cows In Saskatchewan Soon To Be Available

Making Saskatoon his headquarters in his survey of dairy industry for the province of Saskatchewan, Dr. George Miner, of the Department of Agricultural Economics, at Cornell University, announced that the actual taking of records will be completed about the end of this month. Figures will then be available on dairy cows on about 550 farms in Saskatchewan. Particular care has been taken to secure a fair average of the herds.

Dr. Miner has been furnished with a staff of assistants in the survey work by the Department of Agriculture, at Regina. Although figures as to the cost of producing and distributing milk in Saskatchewan will be ready soon, Dr. Miner does not think this will exhaust the usefulness of the data gathered. He expects the department will have further work when this is completed. The survey is financed from the surplus of the Canada Wheat Board of 1920, which was set aside for agriculture research.

Painless and perfect in their action, Miller's Worm Powders are always a safe and reliable remedy for children who show symptoms of worms. These symptoms are easily recognized in a feverish restlessness, frequently ending in convulsions. A point of notable importance is that after Miller's Worm Powders have expelled the worms, the stomach and bowels are toned up into a very healthy condition.

Research Possibilities

By DR. H. M. Fory, President National Research Council

No one can realize what may be before us. I saw a statement made by a distinguished professor of chemistry that if we could write down the formulae for all combinations possible from a molecule containing one hundred atoms, these formulae alone would fill all the pages of all the books in the world. He was giving that as an illustration of the wide open field that lies before the chemists of this country in developing its chemical industry. Fifty years ago, there was no such thing as a strictly chemical industry. Last year in Canada alone there were invested in chemical and allied industries $750,000,000 which produced $500,000,000 worth of products, while in the United States the corresponding production amounted to approximately $7,000,000,000.

James Penmore Cooper could not write unless he was chewing gum drops, it is said.

Women In Airplane Factories

Are More Adapt At Finer Adjustments Than Men

Much of the most exacting work in the construction of an airplane is done by women workers. Builders have found that women are most adept at shaping and sewing the fabric covers of wings and making certain delicate adjustments on the wings and struts of airplanes. Also, they are often called upon to plan the decorations of the interiors of planes built on special orders.

Major Reuben H. Fleet, president of Fleet Aircraft, Inc., of Buffalo, has many women workers in his plant. "We find that women can do the complicated work of covering the wings and assembling ribs and fitting them more accurately and in less time than men," he said.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

CARROT MARMALADE

12 raw carrots.
4 cups sugar.
3 Sunkist lemons.
1 teaspoon ground cloves.
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon.
1 teaspoon ground allspice.
Grate carrots, add sugar and let stand one hour. Add lemon juice and thoroughly heated then remove seeds by pressing through a fine sieve. Measure pulp and liquid and allow one cup sugar for each pint. Add sugar to pulp and cook rapidly until thick, stirring frequently. Pack in clean, hot jars and seal.

SEEDLESS BLACKBERRY JAM

The seeds of blackberries are very objectionable to many, so it is well to get rid of them. Mash berries, cook in their own juice until thoroughly heated then remove seeds by pressing through a fine sieve. Measure pulp and liquid and allow one cup sugar for each pint. Add sugar to pulp and cook rapidly until thick, stirring frequently. Pack in clean, hot jars and seal.

Had Diarrhoea

Bowels So Active Feared For His Life

Mrs. S. J. Jago, Canobie, N.B., writes: "My little boy, when three years old, had a severe attack of diarrhoea. The bowels were so active, and he vomited so much, I feared for his life. I tried many medicines, but he was always getting worse. A friend told me of and after the second dose I saw an improvement. I gave him almost half a bottle and he was completely relieved.

I have used it for the other children, and my husband and myself. My husband gives it great praise and when he goes away from home with him."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 29

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE EXILE AND THE RESTORATION

Golden Text: "The lovingkindness of Jehovah is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear Him, and His righteousness unto children's children."—Psalm 103:17.

Before the destruction of Jerusalem, the prophet Ezekiel went into exile with the first deportation, and five years afterwards he was called to the prophetic office. It was a severe arraignment of the people of Israel that he was told to make in the name of the Lord. Ezekiel lived up to his responsibility. Do we live up to ours? It is one thing to have convictions, but quite another thing to have the courage of convictions. A responsibility calls for a response. Not to respond to the responsibility that rightfully belongs to us is cowardly and base.

The captivity was God's training school, where the exiles were given an opportunity to lament their rebelliousness and recognize their dependence upon Him. Jeremiah had prophesied that after seventy years were accomplished, God would visit and perform His good word toward them, in causing them to return to their home. The first opportunity for return from exile came in the first year of Cyrus, King of Persia. Jehovah stirred up the spirit of his people, and they began to return, and they who wished to go back and build the house of Jehovah.

The chief desire of the people of Israel was to rebuild the temple and re-establish their ancient worship. It was a great day when the foundation of the temple was laid, vocal and instrumental music formed part of the ceremony, and joy reigned supreme. But while there was joy in all hearts, conflicting emotions filled the hearts of the men who had known the glorious temple of Solomon. They were weeping as well as rejoicing. The joy was mingled with the bitter mingles with the sweet. One of Tennyson's odes refers to a wedding as "the white funeral of single life." The foundation laying of that "white temple" in the midst of ruin and desolation was to the Jews a "white funeral" of all the glories of the past.

Juveniles To Compete

Boys' and Girls' Swine Clubs Membership Is Necessary

More than five thousand boys and girls on Canadian farms will be taking part in the annual swine club and calf breeding contests in the various provinces this year, for which the Canadian National Railways offer prizes and trophies. It was stated recently by Dr. W. J. Black, Director of Colonization and Agriculture, of the National System. Through the stimulation of the assistance offered in this work by the railway company, in bringing the boys and girls together in annual competition, the work of the clubs has progressed rapidly, particularly with respect to calf clubs. There will be nearly 200 of these in operation this year, there being a 400 per cent. increase over last year.

Barcelona Taxes Postage

Barcelona citizens have been subjected to various taxes to help defray the enormous expenses of the International Exposition. All letters posted in Barcelona must, in addition to the regular postage, bear an exhibition stamp of five centimos (about three-quarters of an American cent). A tax of 3000 centimos is levied for each long-distance call and each telegram originating there.

Wheat Marketing On Protein Basis

Dr. Robert Newton, professor of field crops, of the University of Alberta, has been asked by the National Research Council, of Canada, to make investigation of the possible reception which would be given in Europe to a system of marketing wheat on a basis of protein content. The report will be prepared for the next session of Parliament.

Huge Milk Shipment

Largest Consignment Of Its Kind Shipped From Aylmer To Western Canada

Seven hundred and fifty thousand cases working in high gear for one whole day could contribute just enough milk to make up a shipment which left Aylmer, Ont., on a special Canadian National Railways freight recently for the west. Product of an Aylmer Milk Evaporating Company, it was the largest shipment of its kind ever to leave any point in Canada, and made up a train consisting of 200 cars. There were 11,800 cases containing 700,000 cans and weighing 383 tons in the consignment which is destined to grace the tables of farm houses during coming season. It required 1,500,000 pounds of fresh milk to make up this shipment; at the largest evaporated milk plant in Canada. The product has a value of $65,000 and is pointed to as a sterling example of an extension of the dairying industry in Canada.

Although a small part of the shipment will reach the Pacific Coast, it is, in the biggest part, for consumption throughout the prairie provinces.

Take Pride In Canada

Only Necessary To Travel the Length of This Dominion To Stir Up Patriotism

Proud to be a Canadian before he took a recent trip to western Canada, Dr. C. B. Oliver, of Chatham, Ont., is even more proud of his nationality, since he has once more travelled through Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. The more he sees of the Dominion, the prouder he is of Canada. His patriotism needs no artificial stimulus. All he requires is to see his Canada. Every citizen of this Canadian nation has a perfect right to be proud of his country. The more a person travels in Canada, the more he appreciates the wealth of this land, and the more the Canadian travels in other countries, the more he realizes that in Canada he can find facts and opportunities to equal anything he sees elsewhere.—Border Cities Star.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, a singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, wins fame as a composer of popular songs. Grace, the cigarette girl at Blackie's, who loves Al without his knowing it, is left behind. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and makes her famous too. She does not love him. Molly has a baby, Junior, whom Al adores. Al becomes part owner of the fashionable Club Bonito, and on the night of his third anniversary of his marriage presents his beloved Molly with a diamond brooch. He does not know that Molly, while approaching the club in her limousine, was arrested by his friend, John Perry, who begged her to leave Al. On the way home with Al she is moody. When she sees Al later in the nursery being devotedly over-seeing Junior, his baby son, her conscience bothers her. This, in turn, makes her angry at her husband.

CHAPTER XIV.

Al heard Molly's step and turned to embrace her. She deftly avoided his grasp, stifling the look of aversion in her eyes as she did so. Al thought nothing of it; he believed she was merely anxious to avoid any noise that might wake Junior. Again he made a move as if to touch the child, but Molly caught his hand. "Sh!" she murmured in an irritated voice. "Don't wake him. I'm tired. He might cry."

Al pretended in earnest pantomime that he had no intention of waking Junior, but, unseen by Molly, his other hand crept toward the protruding toe of the boy. The first was Al couldn't bear the thought of going to bed without a word or two with little Junior. So as Molly turned away to go to her own room Al nudged the baby's foot and smiled to himself. Junior's eyes opened sleepily and, as he recognized his father, he murmured, "Hello, daddy."

At the gentle words Molly turned, a smile stealing over her face in spite of herself. There stood Al, pretending surprise that Junior had awakened, but obviously delighted that it had happened. He quickly leaned over, gathered the baby in his arms and straightened up with the child held close to him. One chubby, soft arm went round his neck.

"Good boy, daddy," whispered Junior, smuggling closer. "Come home."

Swiftly Al carried his precious bundle toward Molly, who waited a look of indignation upon her face. She wanted to see Junior and cuddle him, too, yet the sight of his innocent baby face at this moment sharpened her guilty thoughts and aggravated her irritation toward Al. But Al was holding Junior toward her, so there was nothing to do but take the child in her arms.

"Be more careful," she whispered pettishly. "You're spoiling my bedtime."

Al noticed her tone and quickly took Junior from her. But as soon as she had left the nursery and Junior sat down on his father's lap, face, desperately she struggled to think of an explanation that would smooth things over. But it was no use—she had gone too far; there was no turning back.

"What is it, darling?" Al pleaded. "Can't you tell me? Haven't you everything to make you happy—a beautiful home—a baby—me?"

But Molly seemed to grow harder with every word he uttered. Her icy silence, as she confronted him with gleaming eyes, sent a dreadful current of fear through him. Was there nothing he could say to arouse her—to drive out this evil spirit and bring back the Molly he loved. He said with a controlled quietness that gave no hint of his madly throbbing heart:

"You act as though you didn't love me—any more. Don't you?"

At that Molly's head came up. It was as if she had been waiting, trying to force him to a showdown. Now she was ready to speak.

"I don't love you any more."

The dreadful words were spoken slowly and soberly, but the infinite pain was on a look of disdain, curled her lips and her eyes flashed defiance. Now—at last—she had come clean. Now her attitude said, what was he going to do about it?

Al recoiled as if she had struck him across the face with a whip. The words seemed to travel swiftly down interminable corridors in his brain, and came echoing back.

But finally Molly could stand the silence no longer.

"You heard me," she exclaimed harshly. "I mean it. I don't love you! Do you understand? I don't love you! Now let me alone!"

The last remark was shot at him with deadly aim and purpose, as she might have thrown a burning, blazing flag. It was all over now, she thought; there would be no more pretending on her part. This was the climax of the storm that had been gathering force within her for more than a year. She didn't want him, in fact, she hated him with a terrible intensity because he had made her feel unworthy by loving her too much. She wanted to hurt him with all the cruelty in her power, driving forever that adoring look from his eyes.

Al did not cringe as he listened to her, yet he knew at last that their life and comradeship together were utterly shattered. His face was pale as death. But as they faced each other, eyes aglow, hands clinched, they heard another sound like the faint sweet tinkle of a bell. It was Junior's voice, calling gently: "Mamma. Please come to me."

WHEN BABY IS WELL MOTHER IS HAPPY

The happy mother is the one whose baby is well—it is the laughing, gurgling baby who always brings joy to the home. When baby is everyone in the home suffers—not only through worry over the little one but through loss of sleep—one can find rest with a sick baby in the home. Thousands of mothers are happy mothers because they have found the way to keep their little ones well—or if sickness does come on suddenly, as it usually does with little ones, they have found the way to speedily bring the baby back to health again. Mrs. George Koch, Lindberg, Alta, is one of these mothers and she writes as follows: "I am the happy mother of a thirteen-month-old baby girl. Baby is healthy and strong and sleeps well at night. I give her no other medicine but Baby's Own Tablets, and she just loves them. I am never without the Tablets in the house."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus drive out constipation and indigestion and make the cutting of teeth easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Car Accidents in Iceland

Increasing Number Of Automobile Accidents Presents a Problem. Iceland, of all places under the sun, is complaining of its growing number of automobile accidents. Just like Chicago and New York and London, this metropolis has its careless drivers and its drunken drivers. And all of this, of course, makes for more accidents.

An auto bus took a turn in a country road too rapidly. Two passengers were killed and the others injured. Icelandic authorities halted the driver into court, found that he conducted his bus in a most careless manner and sentenced him to a month in jail. His license was taken away permanently.

"Electric Man" Puzzles Doctors

Receives Shock When Using Telephone Or Radio Headphones

Frederick Stone, a chauffeur at Holworthy, north Devonshire, England, is so charged with electricity that:

(1) He cannot use a telephone or wear a radio telephone without receiving a shock; and
(2) He cannot drive his automobile or walk without wearing vulcanite insulation pads in his shoes, and

(3) He can locate buried gold, silver and copper.

This strange "electrical" man has spent 20 of his 49 years in hospitals puzzling doctors.

A phone test of his divining powers has been held at Plymouth Municipal Museum under the supervision of the curator. The electric man located without trouble buried nuggets of gold, gold-bearing quartz and even gold jewelry.

Stone finds hidden gold and copper by means of a wand consisting of an ordinary steel coil spring. This wand and wriggles in his hand like a snake when he approaches buried treasure. The number of wriggles denoted the number of feet he is away from the exact spot.

Discussing his unusual gift, Stone said that these divining spells put a great strain upon him and were always followed by periods of intense lassitude.

"The only way I can get relief from the electric currents when I am thus overdone," he said, "is to touch wood."

"I enjoy listening to the wireless by loud speaker, but as soon as I put on a pair of headphones I feel physical helplessness as if I had received a blow on the head. I cannot use a telephone without intolerable discomfort."

"Once more my wife's wrist watch and it came all to pieces. I must be supercharged with electricity."

Little Helps For This Week

"Watch therefore, for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come."—Matthew xxiv: 42.

Think not, I dread to see my spirit fly.

Through the dark gates of fell mortality; Death has no terrors when the life is true: 'T is living ill that makes us fear to die.

—Omar Khayyam.

When the hour of death comes,—that comes to high and low alike,—then it's na what we have done for ourselves, but what we have done for others that we think on most pleasantly.

—Sir Walter Scott.

When a man dies, they who survive him ask what property he has left behind. The angel who bends over the dying man asks what good deeds he has sent before him.

—The Koran.

Pity the Editor

A Difficult Matter To Be Popular With Everyone

It is likely editors are the most unpopular people in the world. If they try to please one group, they offend another. If they express honest convictions, which they usually do—narrow critics to the contrary notwithstanding—they are by many misjudged and misrepresented.

If perchance, at rare intervals, an editor hears of no error that has crept in or feels no assault on his idea of what should or should not be published, he is profoundly relieved—almost happy. He does not need commendation for any meritorious thing he has written or done to make him measurably satisfied with, life. All he needs is freedom from the sharp stabs of those who are looking for imperfections in grounds for disagreement. There is no closed season, and often he is lambasted without knowing it, but if he doesn't know it, he is not hurt, and he may even imagine he has escaped by unanimous consent.

We would counsel the young who contemplate journalistic careers to develop thick and tough hides as a preliminary step, and leave behind all desire to run for office, or to win in any other form of popularity contest. —Benson, Minn. Monitor.

Idea May Be Feasible

Berlin To New York In Six Hours Is Plan Of Young Engineer

"Take a solid breakfast in Berlin and don't worry about food on the plane. You can have lunch in New York!"

This might be the last advice given by good friends to a passenger of a futuristic airplane not yet constructed, but planned by Helmut Guntther, Perle, a 21-year-old Berlin engineer. Perle claims that his plane would make the trip from Berlin to New York in about six hours, saying that world-famous scientists and experts like Professor Einstein and Count Arco studied his device carefully, approved of it and now firmly believe in its feasibility.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food cannot be digested. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medicine is called Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One teaspoon of this harmless, lactoseless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will agree, use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

THE RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH

The police of the city of Toronto have had a serious conflict with certain communist leaders and their sympathizers who attempted a demonstration in one of the parks of the city. The gathering it seems was broken up by non-too-gentle methods and several of the leaders of the "red" element, and some quite innocent bystanders, received decidedly rough treatment. The utter futility of methods such as these has become quite apparent since the incident. Following what a great many people believe to be quite unjust and outrageous treatment, a feeling of sympathy has been stirred up in favor of the communist group and its friends, while they on their part are only inflamed to persist in attempting what common sense and common justice would say they ought to be allowed to do within reason without cavil or question. Surely there is a sane and reasonable way of dealing with matters of this sort and surely it is the exact opposite of that way that the police of Toronto have taken upon themselves. If they have been inadvertently led into this way of handling the matter, the sooner they know that the citizens in general still believe in the right of free speech the better. And it is quite evident that those citizens do not intend to stand by and see such rights trampled on quite so ruthlessly.

There are people who seem obsessed with the idea that the world to-day stands in very serious peril from the menace of communism. Whatever may be the case in other lands, we are quite at a loss to see how any one can so see things in Canada. Even if the methods referred to above were legitimate and likely to be effective the occasion for their use does not exist here, and any working up of our feelings into hysteria over "red" propaganda is quite unjustified and uncalled for. The small amount of that virus that runs in our veins will very easily work itself out in harmless agitation and discussion if we allow it to do so.—The New Outlook.

SPEED PROGRESS

Last week while cleaning out an old drawer of clippings, we came across the Charlottetown Patriot, which contained an item of interest.

The article was an account of the sailing ship Valiant, under direction of Captain Izard.

The ship left Hull, England on March 22, 1817, and arrived at Charlottetown 73 days later on July 2nd.

Among the passengers were Mr. George West and family of Little York, the grandparents of our local merchant Mr. George West.

OCTOBER "ROD AND GUN"

Filled with seasonal stories and articles, the October issue of Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News, Canada's national outdoor magazine, just to hand, will prove of great interest to those devotees of hunting who are packing away their fishing tackle and getting out their guns at this time.

The many articles by well known outdoor authorities cover a wide field—moose hunting in Quebec, fishing in the Maritimes and Ontario, goose hunting in the western prairie lands, big horn hunting in the Rockies and trapping in northern Ontario. In addition are many practical articles dealing with the handling of arms and phases of life in the wilds. The Canadian Silver Fox News department contains interesting information of latest developments and practices in the silver fox industry.

The following morning Raymond claimed the half sovereign.

"That's excellent," said his father. "Here you are. How did you get rid of him?"

Raymond smiled as he pocketed the money.

"De ducks got 'bout all that cotton, sah," was the mournful reply.

"What do you mean the ducks got it?"

"Well, you see," explained the old man, "I sent dat cotton up to Memphis, and dey deducks the freight, and dey deducks the storage charge, and dey deducks the taxes—yes, sah, de ducks sho did get 'bout all dat cotton!"

Not New Experience

"Did you give the man the third degree?" asked the police officer.

Removal Of Friction and Strife

The setting up of the organization of the League of Nations had, as its main object, the removal of those racial, religious, economic and political animosities and suspicions which kept the nations of the world, and particularly the nations of Europe, in constant turmoil and ever on the verge of war. Because of the bitterness and suspicions thus kept alive and active, all nations armed to the teeth, one against another, while a multitude of restrictions and prohibitions to international intercourse were established.

Not only were national boundaries marked by lines of fortifications, but intricate systems of espionage were maintained, passports were required of people passing across boundary lines, different gauges were built by railways, customs posts established everywhere, and hostile tariffs imposed by one country upon the products of other countries.

Thus were the people of each country kept warned against the possible enmity of other countries, suspicions were never allowed to die down, a constant state of friction prevailed, and strife was uppermost in every mind.

It was as inevitable as the rising of the sun that such a state of mind among the peoples of the world must end in some gigantic conflict. It came in 1914, and all but ruined mankind, and nearly destroyed civilization. The statement of the world realized that unless something was done to remove these suspicions and causes of friction, it would be only a matter of time until another and still more colossal struggle would take place.

When it became operative, the League of Nations further realized that, if disarmament was to be brought about, armies and navies reduced, and the huge drain on mankind for warlike purposes ended, the real causes of war must be removed; suspicions jelled, and a true understanding developed among all people. In other words, that a proper spirit of international goodwill must replace the existing narrow and blatant nationalism rampant everywhere.

The League, therefore, set up the International Labor Office, with the object of improving the lot of workers in all countries, and to raise the standard of living of the masses of the people everywhere, realizing that, if people are contented and happy, and living under a fairly high standard, they will not be suspicious or jealous of others, nor quite so ready to plunge into war to better their own condition.

In like manner, the League has devoted its attention to many causes of sorrow and unrest in the world, and it is persistently seeking improvement in all departments of the world's work and methods of living.

It is because of many really great achievements in these directions, coupled with the horrors of the last war, that the minds of all people are today more open to receive and support plans for disarmament, and that, with the passing of the years, the prospects for permanent world peace become brighter.

World statesmen are now convinced that the greatest danger to the world peace is to be found in the realm of economics, in the rivalry of nations in the field of trade and commerce. This is the age of big business, the age of mechanics, mass production, and of endeavour to sell the surplus products of one nation in the markets of other nations. While this has been more or less true of all ages, and wars have been waged in order to seize territory with a view to later commercial exploitation or development, today the urge to secure new and larger markets is the strongest ally of those who clamor for large armies and huge navies.

Premier Bland's proposal for a United States of Europe is economic, rather than political. We venture to say it is not aimed at Great Britain, or the United States of America, but is designed to remove the multitude of restrictions which prevail all over Europe, isolating one nation from another, and doing economic hurt to all of them.

So, too, the Franco-British proposal for a two-year tariff holiday during which all nations would agree not to raise their tariffs, and meanwhile participate in a sincere international conference to determine ways and means whereby, without sacrificing the interests of any one country, a larger measure of freedom in trade and commerce, and intercourse generally, could be devised.

The world is coming to realize and fully understand that trade barriers are now the most prolific cause of misunderstanding between nations, and the cause of more friction and heart-burning than anything else. Even Canada and the United States, which live side by side in such mutual understanding and goodwill, are more frequently disturbed over tariffs than any other one thing, or all other things put together.

The ideal condition of world peace may be an impossible dream for some generations to come, but surely much of the present friction can be removed, and the world begin to trace the path that leads to the ultimately desired goal.

Sheep Ranching Expanding

Industry Is Showing Promising Development In British Columbia

The sheep industry from a ranching point of view shows signs of development in Western Canada, particularly in British Columbia, states the Department of Agriculture. Last fall upwards of 10,000 head of ewe stock were bought in Alberta and shipped to the interior points of British Columbia. In 1928, the demand for range ewes exceeded the supply and the demand promises to be equally as good this year.

A Real Necessity

"Don't Get Excited" Club Would Be a Boon To Society
There are clubs and societies for every conceivable purpose under the sun, yet one of the most obvious needs of Americans today is left entirely uncovered. What we need is a don't get excited club whose object shall be to keep people from coming to the boiling point when it isn't necessary.

The trouble with most of us is we get too excited over little things and not excited enough over the big ones. Agitation, loss of temper and surrender of self-command over the trivial annoyances of life are a sheer waste of time and energy. In most human affairs more can be accomplished through poise and placidity than through effervescence and seismic phenomena.

If a don't-get-excited club could be so organized as to conserve all the human voltage that now goes to waste through needless excitement it would mean that mankind had reached the suburbs of a new era.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE CAN OBTAIN RELIEF

By Enriching Their Blood With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is thin and impure, thus setting up inflammation of the joints and veins. Wet or cold weather may start the pains of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood. Hot applications or rubbing with liniments may ease the pain, but do not remove the cause. The pains are soon back again. To get rid of this most painful trouble you must treat it through the blood. For this purpose nothing else can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which from first dose to last act upon the blood to make new, rich blood, thus driving the rheumatic poisons from the system. Henry E. Amiro, Lowest East Public, N.S., tells what these pills did for him. He says:—"I had an attack of acute rheumatism so bad that I could not walk a hundred yards without so much suffering that I would feel faint. I could not do the least work, and any movement caused great pain. I was under the care of a doctor but did not improve much. Then reading of a similar case in a newspaper I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had used three boxes there was no doubt they were helping me. I took altogether about a dozen boxes when I was cured. To anyone suffering from rheumatism I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Mystery Of Steel Hardening

Steel Now Produced That Is Harder and More Ductile Than Damascus

Mystery and secrecy that for centuries shrouded the art of steel hardening in America, has almost entirely disappeared, according to W. H. Elsmann, secretary of the American Society for Steel Treating.

The famous blades of Damascus, tempered, says legend, by being run through the body of a slave, hold no secrets for modern swordsmiths. Steel is produced now that is harder than Damascus and possibly more ductile.

Dr. W. S. Carnes, a metallurgist, of Canton, Ohio, has produced a sword with which he can shave, and yet so ductile that he can wind it several times around his arm. It is of carbon vanadium steel. As recently as 10 years ago, some of the processes of hardening steel were carried on in gloomy and secluded basements. Where the pot was heated by a great fire, the metal was heated by a high alkali, muffled in a cadabras and made passes over the treating tank.

Potatoes played an important role. Half a spud was set about on the water. Where the potato came to rest was the best place to plunge the white-hot steel. During the war, a great stir was made when a group of steel treaters in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., could not obtain water from England. They thought this had given Sheffield steel its quality which steel treaters the world over had tried to imitate.

Today the process of steel hardening has become an automatic, color light flashing, the instant steel assumes the proper hardness.

Daring Stunt Flyers

"Four Musketeers Of the Air" Dethroned At Camp Borden

"Four Musketeers of the Air" is the title accorded a small group of Canadian aviators who are rapidly demonstrating to the world that while Canada's air force may not be the largest, it is very nearly, if not the best, at its own particular game. The Musketeers are: Squadron Leader C. McEwen, M.C., Flight Lieut. David A. Harding, famous rugby player, Pilot Officer E. McNab and Pilot Officer E. A. McGowan, all four being stationed at Camp Borden, and flying the Canadian army's Blériot pursuit planes.

At various exhibitions both here and in the United States, the Musketeers have thrilled thousands with their antics. At Cleveland, Ohio, recently, they stole the thunder from many more famous fliers who had performed there, and their performances were regarded as one of the most remarkable ever seen in the United States.

Camp Borden features individual stunting at the finishing part of a novice flyer's education. It is a means of obtaining perfection in the control of an aeroplane, and while formation flying is also taught and practiced, the individual practice of putting an aeroplane through its paces is more strongly endorsed.

One of the Musketeers' favorite stunts is a very spectacular one. The planes, starting in formation at around 3,000 feet, suddenly nose down. At terrific speed, with motors wide open, they spread out, fan-shaped, and suddenly zoom up. At the peak of the climb, with the motors nearly stopped, the planes gradually fall over backwards and fly for some distance upside-down.

Predictions that "large and beautiful real diamonds can be made by man, was made to the American Chemical Society, at Minneapolis, by Professor J. Willard Hershey, of McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas.

NO PLEBISCITE FOR ONTARIO SAYS FERGUSON

Toronto, — Launching the first manifesto of his political campaign, Premier G. Howard Ferguson announced before a monster gathering here that there would be no plebiscite under his administration on the Ontario liquor control act.

"There will be no plebiscite so long as the Conservative party is in power," Premier Ferguson exclaimed, "and I happen to be the head of the government. We are quite prepared to accept our responsibility."

He went on: "The government does not say the legislation is perfect. Time and experience are going to demonstrate its weakness. The Ontario liquor control act was admitted to be probably the best in the Dominion. It was administered by a very capable board."

"Let us try and improve any defects in the act as we go along so that any evils which exist may be eliminated," Premier Ferguson declared.

"I am opposed in principle to plebiscites," the premier stated. "They are contrary to the principle of responsible government. A plebiscite is a refuge behind which a government may hide from responsibility."

Premier Ferguson had caustic references for W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, on the liquor question.

"I see," the Ontario premier declared, "Mr. Sinclair is a bit wobbly in his effort to follow the path of prohibition. I am not quite sure where he is or where he will land in that respect. It appears to me the position he has taken is that the people have approved of the legislation; but Mr. Sinclair does not want the Ferguson Government to administer it. He now says the Ferguson Government should not administer it and to let those administer it who do not believe in it."

For Compulsory Pool

Aaron Sapro In Favor of Marketing System Without Limitation

Estevan, Sask.—"I am for co-operative marketing without reservation and without limitation, but above all I am for control of the commodity that the farmers raise by the farmers who raise it, and I am for the absolute elimination of even part of that control by those who have a financial interest in breaking down your great pools. I am for co-operation as a means to an end, that your own wheat by the farmers who are being the absolute control of it in whatever technical method they think is the best method of control."

Before 700 farmers of the districts tributary to the town of Estevan, Aaron Sapro, America's most famous cooperative farming advocate, gave expression to these sentiments when, under the auspices of the local lodge of the Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada, he opened the first gun in the campaign now being started in favor of a sentiment of one hundred per cent. pool by legislation.

Without equivocation of any kind, Mr. Sapro announced himself as being wholly in favor of one hundred per cent. pool by way of legislation, and in the course of an hour's address gave reasons why such legislation should be sought, why the farmers of the province should market all their grain through a single control, and why those who are now outside the pool should be compelled by way of legislation to place their products through the single marketing organization.

Four questions were outlined by Mr. Sapro as the basis of his address: first, do the farmers generally understand what is meant by the term "one hundred per cent. pool?" second, why was he brought to the province to advocate the method; third, what objections are raised to it; fourth, why are the reasons for legislation greater than those against it.

H.B. Line Now Ready

But Regular Trains Will Not Be In Operation Until Next Spring

The Pas, Man.—The Hudson Bay Railway is now in shape to allow regular trains to be run to Churchill with safety. It was learned here in official railway quarters.

The final two miles of ballasting of the "First Lift" were completed this week, placing the road in condition for regular traffic. However, passenger trains will not be run to the Bay until the spring, according to a recent decision in Ottawa. Railway quarters deny the report published in the local press that the muskeg trail had completed its first run to Churchill. The train completed its run at Mile 412 as usual. When the train left here recently, it included the private cars of Major J. G. MacEachan, district engineer, and D. R. Campbell, general superintendent of construction, western region. However, the business cars were taken from Mile 412 to the Bay on a work train. The two officials made an inspection of the Flin Flon and reported everything in order.

THOMAS PLEASED WITH HIS RECENT VISIT TO CANADA

Liverpool, Eng.—"I am completely satisfied with the results of my visit," declared Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, on his return from a visit to Canada. "I hope and I feel that it will contribute towards a solution of the unemployment problem of this country this winter."

"I promise to meet representatives of all business interests which can do business with Canada, so the necessary steps can be taken to give practical effect to my efforts. Canada will take coal and steel from Great Britain which she at present takes from other areas."

"I have not asked Canada to take from us things she produces herself, but I did ask something on account of Britain being the largest buyers of wheat from the Dominion," Mr. Thomas went on. "Canada," he declared, "admitted the force of what he put forward."

"Although, as I say, I shall meet the business organizations of the old country, I say once again, as I did when I took office—there can be no infallible unemployment remedy produced artificially. What we want for that are customers, and these I have done my best to secure," Mr. Thomas added.

Guiding Planes By Remote Radio Control

Aero Club Given Glimpse Into Future Of Air Transportation

Philadelphia.—Aeroplane speed of 416 miles an hour and 'planes navigated without a pilot aboard by the medium of remote control by radio were glimpses into the future given to members of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania, and the Rotary Club, by speakers at a joint meeting here.

It was G. E. Town, chief engineer of the Aeronautical Laboratories at the navy yard, who in a technical address discussed speed possibilities. A speed of 416 miles an hour is the maximum which can be delivered by any known present day machine, he said, "although Britain may have an engine up her sleeve" larger than any yet constructed.

Edward P. Howard, chief of the air regulations division of the United States Department of Commerce, disclosed that an application has recently been made for the licensing of a pilotless machine to be navigated by radio impulses.

British Premier May Call Power Conference

Report Says Invitations Likely To Be Issued Shortly

Washington.—Invitations to the five-power naval conference proposed to be held late in January will be issued by Premier Ramsay MacDonald in the near future, but the exact time remains to be determined.

This was learned here authoritatively recently, and with it came the further information that there would be no joint invitations on behalf of Great Britain and the United States as has been suggested in some quarters. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, said published despatches emanating from London, that Premier Ramsay MacDonald already had sent invitations through the British embassies at Tokio, Paris and Rome, were without authorization and entirely inaccurate.

The invitations from the British government will go to the United States, Japan, France and Italy, with all five expected to participate in the conference which it is now proposed shall be held in the British capital.

Considerable preparatory work must be done before the invitations are sent forward through the British embassies. It may be that action would be deferred until after Premier MacDonald has held his conferences with President Hoover, in Washington, early in October, on points still in controversy between the United States and Great Britain on the cruiser question.

Making Trip To West

Premier King To Make Short Visit In October

Ottawa.—Premier Mackenzie King proposes to make a trip, probably to the Pacific Coast, starting about the end of October. It will be a somewhat hurried trip, the prime minister said, but he will make a number of visits to some of them, in all probability, on the way out to the west. Definite arrangements for the trip have been somewhat held up owing to lack of information as to just when Premier Ramsay MacDonald was coming to Ottawa. It has now been settled that Mr. MacDonald will be in the capital shortly after the fifteenth of October, and Mr. King's trip will begin after the departure of the British prime minister.

FOR CONTROL AND LIMITATION OF THE DRUG EVIL

Geneva.—The British delegation at the League of Nations assembly has presented a proposal designed to bring out an international agreement for control and limitation of production of heroin, morphine and cocaine. The move was regarded as representing a complete reversal by the League Government of the late Baldwin Government's attitude in refusing to enter an agreement seeking to limit manufacture of narcotics.

The new British position was announced by a subcommittee of the committee on social questions by N. Baker, member of parliament. The British recommendation is that the League Council invite the governments of countries in which narcotics are manufactured to confer together as to the possibility of reaching an agreement on the total amount of each of the various forms to be manufactured annually and as to the quota of each that these countries should manufacture. The new attitude adopted by Great Britain brings her into accord with the attitude of Canada, the United States and Italy. By the British resolution initiative in calling a conference of the States is placed in the League's Council.

SHOULD HOLD EXPORT GRAIN FOR BETTER PRICE

Ottawa.—Nothing should induce the Canadian farmer to move his grain overseas unless he receives a proper price. This is the position taken by E. B. Ramsay, chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners. "There are sufficient storage facilities in Canada," Mr. Ramsay said, in an interview here, "to take care of this year's crop as well as the large hold-over from last year. It likely should be any contention it will be only temporary."

"The welfare of all Canada depends on the farmer receiving a proper price for his grain," Mr. Ramsay said. "There has been some reluctance overseas to pay the figure demanded, but this should not discourage the farmer in his desire to obtain an equitable return for his crop."

There was every indication that although this year's crop would not be large, it would be one of the best recent from a grading standpoint. "The bulk of the crop is grading No. 1 and No. 2," Mr. Ramsay continued. "There is so little of the lower grades that the chief inspector has not enough of No. 4, 5 and 6 to make up composite samples for grading purposes."

The chief commissioner emphasized the desirability of regulating the flow of wheat out of Canada. "If all the crop is moved within a few months it necessitates the running of a large number of freight cars to western points with higher overhead as a consequence," he pointed out. "If railway companies have to provide for a sudden demand and cars are idle at other times of the year, there is sure to be a higher carriage rate."

Stabilization of grain prices from year to year is essential to the welfare not only of the western farmer, but to Canada as a whole, he declared. The western farmer purchases from the eastern manufacturer and stable prices make for financial prosperity. One encouraging sign, Mr. Ramsay said, was that borrowings in the last few years, and western banks were more and more able to finance the farmers from their own deposits.

The Hudson Bay route will be as important from the standpoint of imports as from exports, Mr. Ramsay declared later, in an interview. Possibly the new route would have its greatest value in reduced transportation rates on imports for the western farmer. The manufacturer would be in a better position to compete in prices and a pronounced increase in intra-empire trade would result.

"In my opinion," Mr. Ramsay said, "the Hudson Bay route should be regarded as a channel for bringing overseas products to the west. On their return voyages the boats will, of course, carry western grain. "Not only will the Canadian farmer profit, but people in the Northwest United States will be able to bring British goods in under bond, escaping the heavier railway charges from Atlantic ports. Canadian transportation facilities would have the benefit of carrying out-bound United States products as well. Hard spring wheats from North Dakota, Montana and Idaho are ready to market at the time navigation will be opened through Hudson Strait. Shippers across the border are sure to take advantage of the lighter charges through the northern port."
